Animals in Hedges.

Those quaint box hedges, which one sometimes sees nowadays in the British Isles, cut out on the top into curious little shapes of birds and animals, are of exceedingly ancient lineage. Pliny the Younger, in describing the garden of one of his villas, mentions "animals in box, facing each other," and this was, perhaps, in about the year 100 A. D.

The New Puritan.

The new puritan is instructed in cleanliness, believes in it, practices it. As a good animal guided by an enlightened mind, he purposes to make the best of his body, not to poison it with alcohol or to pollute it with disease. For his own sake and for the sake of the future of the race, he conducts himself morally. His philosopher, guide and friend, however, is the physician and science is his inspiration and his teacher.

Plant Changes.

Some remarkable variations in plant structure and color from exposure to the sun at different hours of the day have been brought to the notice of the Royal Microscopical Society of England by Col. R. E. Rawson. In flowers of the common nasturtium—trapezium majus—the low sun of the early morning developed yellow coloring matter, the middle sun of mid-day stimulated the violets, blues and purples. The color of the foliage and lobing of the leaves also changed.

Water Protects Coal.

An interesting result of recent experiments with coal is the demonstration of the benefits of submerging the mineral in water. Coal deteriorates in the air, and there is the danger of spontaneous combustion, while when submerged not only was the fire danger eliminated, but scarcely any deterioration was shown. Experimentally, coal kept in the air showed from 2 to 10 per cent of loss in nine months, while when submerged there was scarcely any loss at all.

When the Baboon Calls.

Baboons have been a sore trouble lately to many South African folk, and poison clubs have been founded to keep them away and reduce their numbers. Baboons recently raided a farm in Robertson, and, ignoring all efforts to drive them away, rode the donkeys in the back yard. In Laingsburg, driven by hunger, they raided gardens in broad daylight.

Diogenes Knew.

Diogenes held his lantern before the face of a woman. It was Christmas morning and she was remarking: "How darling! It was just what I wanted!" Whereat, the old fellow shook his head in despair and passed on. "She is counting at this very moment," mused Diog. "on what she can exchange it for."

Vain Pursuit.

"So Niblit is dead?" "Yes." "Did he leave any property?" "Nothing to speak of. Niblit was the kind of man who had an idea that fortune was always just around the corner." "But he never succeeded in overtaking her?" "No. He has either mistaken in the location of the corner or he lingered in the middle of the block until fortune moved on to some other corner."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Ping—"Does the comedian strike you as funny?" Pong—"Nary a bit. He struck me for a ten yesterday and I couldn't see the joke."

When You Are Chilled.

Chilled hands or feet should not be put near the fire or in hot water, as this causes the blood vessels to dilate too rapidly and chills the result. The chilled members may be put in tepid water and a little hot water added from time to time, but the best plan is to warm by exercise and by rubbing.

TO SAVE IS TO HAVE

Suppose you save 25 cents a day? That does not mean much to the average man. You won't miss it. Yet that 25 cents a day in 10 years grows to nearly $1,000. And the interest we pay you for saving your money brings the total to well over $1100. Think of what you can do with this.

REALIZE YOUR DREAMS

Just a few years of small but steady savings will bring you many of the things you are longing for. Perhaps you want to buy the farm next to you. Perhaps you want to start a son in business, or to go traveling, or to educate yourself or your children. Saving will do all these. And best of all, you will have formed the saving habit and will never be one of the nine men out of every ten who pass their last years penniless—in the poorhouse or dependent on others.
